MISSION

The National Center for Missing & Exploited Children's mission is to help families, law enforcement and communities find missing children, reduce child sexual exploitation and prevent future victimization. As the nonprofit leading the fight to keep children safer from these crimes, NCMC is dedicated to the victims and their families. Co-founded in 1984 by missing child advocates John and Revé Walsh after their son Adam's abduction and murder, NCMC's role has grown to respond to evolving threats against our nation's children.

CHALLENGE

While NCMC and the families and law enforcement it supports have seen amazing progress in child safety over the years, there is still more work to do. With more than 460,000 reports of missing children in the United States in a single year and a rise in cases of child sexual exploitation, the need for NCMC's services continues to grow.

SOLUTION

NCMC offers extensive resources in cases of missing and exploited children that include emotional and reunification assistance for families, the distribution of billions of missing child posters and the work of trained analysts and forensic artists. Drawing on decades of experience to help stop these crimes before they happen and to help people be prepared when they do, NCMC also provides free education for law enforcement, families and children.

NCMC is a 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt charity and is a publicly supported organization as defined in sections 509 (a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) of the Internal Revenue Service Code. Federal ID #52-1328557. All contributions are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.
