

Third Grade News

November 6, 2014

Number Eight

Upcoming Events:

Fri. Nov. 7, 1-3: Projects

Fri. Nov. 21: due date for donations of Mashed Potatoes and Gravy (boxed and canned, for the Student Council Thanksgiving Food Drive)

Wed. Nov. 26: Thanksgiving Assembly and Noon Dismissal

Excerpts of Thank You Notes Written Today

Dear Mrs. Kansteiner,
Thank you for letting us spin the spinning wheel. I love your farm!

The baby lambs were so cute! I really enjoyed petting the baby sheep. I can't believe that they can run when they're only two days old! I, for one, did not know that little lambs grew teeth so fast! I did not know that a baby sheep has an umbilical cord.

I think that the ram is so funny, in fact he should be in a circus! I loved how the sheep ran out of the barn.

I did not know that llamas protected the sheep. I didn't know that llamas can spit. That is cool! And I never knew that llamas had four stomachs!

Thank you for letting us go to your farm. It's beautiful there. I liked eating next to your barn. I liked that you let us pet your dogs. I love dogs. I will never forget you!

Your Friends in 3rd Grade at Hill

Halloween Fun

We baked some pumpkin pie last week, as we read the story Halloween Pie by Michael O. Tunnell and Kevin O'Malley. In this book, a witch turns the spooky creatures who stole her pie into the ingredients for a new pie. We used cans of zombie and vampire, skeleton spices, ghostly salt, and the wind whipped the cream. What a great dessert for our Halloween lunch!

Reading Goals Reached!

We are so proud that every member of the class earned enough Accelerated Reader points to meet this year's first reading goal. Each student received a grab bag of Halloween prizes as a reward. New goals were set this week for the marking period ending Dec. 16.

Cast of Characters

We all enjoyed seeing the amazing costumes worn by members of the class. Each child shared the with the group, and then struck a pose for the camera.

Remember to send
1 jar of gravy
and 1 box of dried potatoes for the Student Council's Thanksgiving Basket!

