ANXIETY: PARENTS CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

Come learn about exciting new research from the Yale Child Study Center, which shows how parents can help reduce their children's anxiety by changing their own responses.

Kasia Daum, counselor at The Hill School and therapist in private practice, will be sharing recent training she received at Yale, which shows how parents can make a big impact!

WHEN: MONDAY, MARCH 9TH, AT 7:00PM
WHERE: THE HILL SCHOOL, MIDDLEBURG, VA

Theater Department Clean Up

The Theater department will be hosting its 2nd Annual Spring Cleaning event on Friday, March 13, from dismissal until 4pm.

This year featuring all things fabric!

Join us to help organize the costume closet, make it more accessible and much more fun! Remember, that Friday is a half day, so start your Spring break off right by helping make the Hill School theater a little bit better! Students and parents welcome.

Pizza lunch will be provided. Interested families (students/and or parents) should RSVP to Ms. Coulter. Students 3rd grade and younger should be accompanied by an adult.

ART BY LILLY KILLINGER • A Young Middleburg Artist

Lilly Killinger is a twelve-year-old artist who loves to express herself through oil painting. She has been painting since she was seven and has always had an eye for color. Fairies have been her trademark and you can find hidden fairies in some of her works. She enjoys coming up with the idea for a painting and being able to express that creativity through brushstrokes. For this art show all the profits will go to A Place to Be, a local business, where they help people overcome challenges through music therapy. Lilly's family has been associated with A Place to Be for five years and Lilly wants to donate money to them so they can help provide scholarships to kids in need. Other than painting, Lilly likes to play soccer and basketball and she likes to sew her own clothes.
