April 2023

Dear Friends of Hill School:

Welcome to “Escape to the Emerald Isle” Hill School’s 46th Annual Auction. On behalf of our students, faculty, staff, and trustees, thank you for your support of the 2023 Auction.

We have an exciting Spring Weekend planned this year with Grandparents Day on Friday, May 12th, followed by the induction of Jack and Sydney Bowers as Faculty Emeriti that evening and then the Auction on Saturday, May 13th. Even as we gather together, we will host our auction virtually to allow members of the Hill community from across the country and around the world to participate.

This year’s Auction special project will be a refresh to the faculty workroom. This is a space where our faculty can consult, collaborate, and recharge during the day. Please consider contributing to this worthy objective to show our appreciation for their hard work and commitment.

I would like to thank Kim Medica and Jill Blunt for their energy and dedication to the auction again this year. We also appreciate the many other staff members who have helped make this Auction a reality and the dozens of parent volunteers who have worked since last fall. The Auction’s success is a direct result of all of their efforts.

We are also very grateful to every Auction sponsor, donor, and participant. Hill is fortunate to have so many committed and generous friends. Thank you for your time, talent, financial support, and all your care and support for Hill School. It has a direct impact on the children’s experience every day.

With appreciation and warm regards,

Treavor Lord

Head of School

Princeton Porterfield

August, 1924

Viewer of any kind to this message,

I am writing this from my study within my English home, but even with the safety of my own home does not convey against nor protect my fragile, fractured sanity, and mind against the horrors bestowed keep-fully within the vile, and sensuous cracks within the small, fisherman's town of Adharcán. Ever since I was of the age of seven, I had wanted to visit Ireland, and with its newfound independence, I thought I would see how the country had been maintaining itself, per-say.

I had decided to take a small shipping boat from Britain over the black as pitch, transcendently deep waves. The vile narrow boat and I arrived at a strangely peaceful, yet shaklee thrown together wooden dock. The weather was utterly awful, and the boat swayed back-and-forth as we approached.

And as I neared the dock, an outline of a figure, quite bloated, in a yellow rain jacket and cap appeared.

“Oy,” the figure said gontley, “Where is you sir comin’ from?”

He was barely comprehensible.

“London,” I said.

He laughed horsley, than coughed; “Lond’in, in Britt’nin?”

“Yes, and I believe this is the fine port of Adharcán?”

“Ye, an’ what is you here comin’ for?” The man questioned.

“Holiday,” I replied.

He looked concerned, and then turned around as if he was trying to see if someone had been behind him, then he turned back to me.

“Right then’, let m’ giv’ you a grant welcomin’.”

He leaned forward on one knee and gestured for me to take hold of his hand and pull me up on the dock, and I regretted the decision as soon as I did so. As soon as I took hold of his hand, I immediately noticed that it was awfully wet, and not in the sense that he had them in water, but in the sense that they had been wet internally. I have no other way to say it. I also was quite unready for the sheer amount of brute strength and force that this man had invested within him. I was lifted from the boat and was flown about five feet in the air. When he dropped me down onto the port, I was all too uncomfortably close to his face, and gave me an indescribable sense of unease.

The man appeared to have no hair, or at least, none that I could see showing from underneath the cap. In fact, he had solem facial hair either. The skin on his face itself was blob-like, and pulsating with blue, stalk-like veins. His mouth was composed in a permanent frown, due to the fact that his jaw was in the state of a crooked, upside down amalgamation, and it gave him an almost fish-like appearance. The mans’ deepset, black- beads of eyes were shrunk into the back of his skull, enveloped within the sagging bloated flesh around his eye sockets.

Among her many talents, Mary Woodruff was also a passionate gardener. Last year, we started a special collaboration with Mary, who for many years donated two beautiful pots full of spring flowers to the auction. Each year, these flower pots were extremely sought after.

We wanted to expand her vision with a variety of pots so that more people could enjoy her beautiful creations.

With her permission, we would call it

Mary's Garden

Mary was told that she was not expected to buy and fill all the pots herself. The auction office would support both. A week later, she and Don came to school with a car full of flower pots. She wanted it to be their contribution. Mary loved the idea and looked forward to offering these beautiful pots at the auction. She wanted to share her love of gardening with the community.

We were honored to see this project through and offer a piece of her vision to you. Each of the pots Mary and Don procured were filled with beautiful spring flowers and included in the auction. As a lasting memory, the Auction will include “Mary’s Garden” as part of our annual auction each year.

27. AN ORIGINAL BY CATHY ZIMMERMAN

Donated by: Cathy S. Zimmerman

Cathy Zimmermann, local artist and Grandmother extraordinaire (Robert in Kindergarten) has created this beautiful watercolor illustration. The piece pays homage to both Hill School and our study on Ireland this year with her lovely adaptation of a Celtic tree of life.

The branches are symbolic of our students, always growing and expanding. Cathy surrounds the tree with the green ribbon of Hill School signifying the celebration of our graduates with their maypole dance and graduation ribbons. She included the little creatures of our campus, reminding us of the beauty that surrounds us, and let's not forget the roots -- those that anchor us here at Hill and in this community.

We have framed this extraordinary piece so it is ready for your own home. Thank you Cathy for creating such a beautiful and poignant piece for our auction. We are touched by the effort and symbolism you wove through this masterpiece.

120. SIP ME, I'M IRISH!

Donated by: Mr. and Mrs. David Condon

"Too much of anything is bad, but too much good whiskey is barely enough" Mark Twain

We have secured an elusive bottle of Blue Spot 7 Year Single Pot Still Irish Whiskey. Blue Spot is matured for no less than 7 years in bourbon casks, sherry butts, and Portuguese madeira casks, all bottled at cask strength for you to enjoy. On the nose you will find a light mix of pineapple, kiwi, green banana, and lime zest followed by pot still spices, baked apple, hazelnut, and toasted wood. The taste is a subtle mix of fruit, a hint of clove oil and cracked black pepper corns, and then sweet spices, vanilla, and cinnamon add to the wood's nutty contribution. The finish is a lasting and distinctly palatable balance of exotic fruits and spices.

And on the nights you don't feel like sharing your Blue Spot, we have included a bottle of Redbreast 12 Year Irish Whiskey. It boasts the flavor complexity and distinctive qualities of Pot Still whiskey. Matured in a combination of bourbon and sherry casks, the distinctive Redbreast sherry style is a joy to behold in each and every bottle.

439. TREE REPLACEMENT INITIATIVE FOR THE POLLY ROWLEY ARBORETUM

On October 5, 2018, The Hill School unveiled the Polly Rowley Arboretum. Mrs. Rowley began work on the arboretum in 1993 when the neighboring landowner donated 133 acres to the school. After 25 years of work, the arboretum serves as an elaborate, wooded addition to our school. The Polly Rowley Arboretum is used by the school as part of its place-based education program, which has students using the outdoors as an educational resource.

Everyone at Hill School is grateful that Mrs. Rowley decided to be such a wonderful friend to the school more than twenty years ago so we can enjoy her beautiful trees now. We would like to thank her by replacing trees that have died over the years and by planting more trees for the next generation of children.

Your donation will purchase a tree and prepare for its planting and maintenance. We cannot designate nor mark each tree purchased with plaques or exact locations as the trees will be planted throughout 2023/2024 based on the season and availability of the trees. With your donation, we will purchase trees in the following species: English Oak, Scarlet Oak, Hinoki Cypress, Cucumber Magnolia and Himalayan Pine.

In late 2016, our arboretum was accepted into the prestigious Archives of American Gardens at the Smithsonian and added to The Garden Club of America Collection as one of 51 properties across the nation. Thank you for becoming a part of such a wonderful Hill School treasure.

398. TRIO OF FRENCH WINES

Donated by: Maya and Bryan Wilson

Add this trio of fine French wines to your wine cellar:

Chateau Marquis d'Alesme Becker Margaux 2018 -

Deep garnet-purple colored, the Marquis d'Alesme Becker leaps from the glass with gregarious notions of plum preserves, crème de cassis, and Black Forest cake with hints of potpourri, star anise, menthol, and tapenade. Full, rich, firm, and grainy, with fantastic freshness lifting the densely packed palate, it has a long, beautifully fragrant finish.

Chateau Labegorce Margaux 2016 - A very elegant and polished

Margaux with great structure and an attractive touch of herbal freshness, then a delicate touch of sweetness at the long, fine finish. A blend of 38 percent cabernet sauvignon, 52 percent merlot, six percent cabernet franc and four percent petit verdot. This estate on the north side of the village of Margaux is performing at its peak. As befits the vintage, it's a rich wine with big tannins, but it also has the style that characterizes a Margaux, with a smooth, perfumed aftertaste.

Chateau Tour Saint Christophe 2016

Emerging from a beautiful, terraced vineyard on the eastern side of Saint-Emilion, the Château Tour Saint Christophe is based on 80 percent Merlot and 20 percent Cabernet Franc that was brought up in 40 percent new French oak. Its vivid purple color is followed by a great nose of blackcurrants, blueberries, tobacco leaf, chocolate, violets, and chocolate. Hitting the palate with medium to full-bodied richness, it has a wonderful sense of purity and elegance, a touch of chalky minerality, flawless balance, and a great finish. This beautiful, elegant, seamless Saint-Emilion needs 4-5 years of bottle age but will evolve for 20-25 years. You won't regret having this in the cellar.
